CANNOT CURE FARMER ILLS BY POLITICS

Proposals for Farm Relief Must Be Economically Sound, Senator Says

CONDITIONS IMPROVED

Must Work Out Plan to Help Farmer Market His Surplus Products

Washington—Economic soundness is the acid test which all proposals for agricultural relief must meet, in the opinion of Senator Capper of Kansas, chairman of the agricultural group in the United States Senate.

"Orderly disposition of surplus farm commodities," he said in an exclusive interview Thursday, "is beyond question the pre-eminent agricultural problem before congress. Primarily a farm concern, its potentialities are such that it becomes distinctly a national problem, and as such it should be appraised and the broadest national interest invoked in its solution. Prosperity cannot indefinitely continue sectional, and until the farmer is relieved of the handicap forced upon him by reason of the fact that he must sell in an export market and buy in an import market is removed, not only must his dependable prosperity be postponed, but his continued existence is gravely menaced.

EXPECT PROPOSALS

"Many bills have been introduced and others will be offered. Personally, I do not think any of the proposals thus far suggested are entirely adequate to the situation, nor do they all, perhaps, meet the test of economic soundness. This test must be met, if we propose really to solve the problem. Any proposal that falls short of economic soundness falls that far short of offering a solution. However, I am confident that a sound solution will be evolved from the suggestions now offered and others that will immediately be offered for the consideration of the house and senate agricultural committees, and from ideas offered and canvassed in committee hearings.

"Agricultural conditions, generally are somewhat better than those prevailing two or three years ago. Yet despite the improvement, the farmers' financial upward is not nearly what it should be. The farm industry needs more vigorous championship of its just rights. It needs more team work among farmers and farm organizations to obtain these rights.

"Agriculture has made some progress the last two years toward higher financial returns, but has a long way to go before these returns are adequate or will reach a satisfactory basis.

"Much is lost to the grower, no doubt, through the difficulty of applying modern selling methods to farm products. I am confident farmers will never obtain a just and adequate financial return until there has been a general acceptance of cooperative marketing.

PROGRESS IS MADE

"The substantial progress made by commodity sales organizations the last four years in marketing fruit, tobacco, cotton and wheat is encouraging. But a system must be worked out in have a large part—to move our crop surpluses when they occur, into foreign channels, and sell them in a way to avoid having the surplus set the price for the entire yield.

"The government must help solve this problem of the surplus which has afflicted producers since long before Joseph's time. It is the most serious question affecting the producer in America today, because it obliges him to sell on the basis of world market prices and to buy at American price levels.

"Agriculture must be more vigorous in upholding its just rights; more active in public affairs, as labor and capital have been, if the industry is to obtain its due and adequate reward.

"Such aggressive action is especially important at this time, for it seems to me that the country is definitely entering upon a new economic era, in which conditions so far as cities go, will certainly be more prosperous than they have been the last five years. Farmers must see to it, if they are to get their fair share of this prosperity.

"Certainly the home market for farm products will improve, for it can be taken as an axiom that when city people have money they are ampler consumers of food of good quality.

"On the other hand, the long range trend of Europe's markets is downward. This means a constantly larger proportion of American farm products must be sold at home. Naturally producers will be compelled to study their local markets with greater care than they have ever given them before, if they are to realize fair returns.

HUNGARIAN REGENT AIDS REVOLTERS

REFUSING DRINK, MAN IS KILLED BY OWNER OF SALOON

Detroit, Mich. —(AP)— Because according to witnesses, he refused to "be a sport and take a drink," Irvin Hanson of Racine, is dead and John Ryan, proprietor of an alleged "blind pig" is held here Friday on a charge of homicide. The shooting occurred late last night in the Ryan place and followed a quarrel resulting from Hanson's alleged refusal to drink or buy a round for others in the place. Ryan is said to have drawn a pistol and fired twice. Hanson died instantly.

Hanson came here Thursday from Racine to visit his brother.

FLOODS SWEEP MEXICO; 500 THOUGHT DEAD

Report Several Villages in State of Nayarit Entirely Wiped Away

Los Angeles, Calif. —(AP)— Special dispatches to the Los Angeles Times says that devastating floods are sweeping the Santiago Ixcuintla district, State of Nayarit, Mexico.

The Governor of Nayarit in a telegram to the states deputies in Mexico City is described as estimating the loss of life at 500 and the property damage at 3,000,000 pesos. Some villages are reported to have been almost destroyed. Rail communications have been cut.

The dispatches also say messages from Durango report that crops have been destroyed and that many miles of country side are under water as the result of three days of torrential rains. Rivers have reached a height of some 5 feet above their normal levels. Preliminary estimates place the damage at 250,000 pesos.

Nogales, Ariz. —(AP)— Torrential rains in the state of Nayarit, Mexico, have caused a property loss of several million pesos but the loss of life has not been great, advices here Friday said.

Forty inches of rain fell in 36 hours in Nayarit, causing all the rivers to overflow, the reports said. The greatest loss was suffered in the Santiago river valley where crops on hundreds of acres are ruined.

Confirmation of the floods was contained in a delayed telegram from Tepic Nayarit, Jan. 1, received here Thursday. It said that the damage was immense. The message stated that the Coponeta river valley was flooded and crops ruined.

Mrs. Berlin Is Absent From Vanderbilt Wedding

New York —(AP)— Broadway and Fifth-ave were equally curious Friday as to the reasons for the absence of Mrs. Irving Berlin from the wedding of Counselor Vanderbilt to Earl E. T. Smith Thursday.

When Mrs. Berlin returned from Atlantic City a few days ago, she said she planned to attend the ceremony and had come to New York for that purpose.

All Thursday however she remained with her husband in their West 46th-st. apartment, guarded by Ivan, a huge Russian valet. Her name did not appear on the list of guests given out at the Vanderbilt home.

Her father, Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Co. who has not seen her since her marriage to the Broadway composer last Monday, when he expressed his disapproval, was present with other members of his family. He is an old friend of the Vanderbilts.

Although the Berlins had planned a dinner party in Atlantic City Friday night, they remained in New York Thursday night. They have reserved the presidential suite on the Levitan, leaving Saturday, but doubt as to whether they will go abroad has been expressed by the bride.

In addition to Ivan, six policemen were required to maintain order and keep traffic moving before the Berlin apartment Thursday. The police were requested by shopkeepers who found their entrances blocked to customers.

A business associate of the song writer denied he has settled $1,000,000 on his bride. It has been reported that Mackay cut off his daughter from his $30,000,000 estate but this cannot be confirmed.

The third wedding of Broadway celebrities within four days took place Thursday with the marriage of Edgar Selwyn, playwright and producer, to Ruth V. Wilcox, actress. William A. Brady, Jr., was married Tuesday to Katherine Alexander, actress.

100,000 MEN INVOLVED IN THRONE PLOT

Money Raised by Issuing Spurious Notes to Be Used to Help Revolt

Budapest —(AP)— More than 100,000 men are said by investigators to have been available for the coup d'etat which was to have placed Archduke Albrecht on the Hungarian throne. Regulars of the national army to the number of 37,000 controlled by Admiral Horthy, the regent, 25,000, police gendarmes and customs officers and about 40,000 fascists comprised the body.

It is proclaimed that Regent Horthy was fully in sympathy with the movement and willing to relinquish the regency in order that Albrecht might ascend the throne without hindrance. The latest facts in the situation seem to tend to show that Prince Ludwig Windisch Graetz at least among the conspirators in the 30 billion French franc counterfeiting plot did not act entirely from political motives. It has been stated that money obtained from floating the spurious notes was to have been used in furthering the ambitions of Archduke Albrecht to secure the crown of Hungary.

The semi-official Hungarian telegraph agency points out in this connection that those arrested for participation in the counterfeiting belong to different political parties and that this fact does not tend to bear out the charge they were acting with political ends in view.

Police have obtained, they claim, full admission from an employee of the government map bureau that the spurious notes were printed with aid of three pressmen.

BANKRUPT

Chicago —(AP)— Luella Melius, grand opera singer from Appleton, filed a petition in bankruptcy here listing debts $86,480 and assets $12,701. Her name is given as Mrs. William F. Melius of New York and her husband is named the principal creditor with $62,860 in notes. Among other creditors are J. C. Chelson of Minneapolis with a claim of $1,873.

LETTERS FROM AGENTS READ INTO RECORDS

Senate Committee Starts Investigation of Aluminum Co. of America.

MELLON IS STOCKHOLDER

Examination of Attorney General Is Not Concluded at Adjournment

BULLETIN

Washington, D. C. —(AP) A proposal to investigate the Rubber and coffee industries in the United States was rejected into foreign monopolies in rubber, coffee and other raw materials.

The effort to expand the investigation to include conditions in the rubber and coffee trade in this country was made at an executive session of the committee by Representative Parks (Dem.) Arkansas. It reflected a considerable movement already apparent among Democratic members of the house to bring into question the attitude of the present administration toward business methods at noon.

Washington, D. C. —(AP)— With Attorney General Sargent as the first witness, the senate judiciary committee began Friday inquiry into the failure of the department of justice to bring contempt proceedings against the aluminum Company of America in which Secretary Mellon is a large stockholder.

Besides Mr. Sargent, Assistant Attorney General Donovan and Chairman Vernon W. Vanderbilt, Secretary Otis B. Johnson and Chief Examiner Miller Hudson of the Federal Trade commission were called as witnesses in the inquiry which is expected to cover a wide range affecting both the justice department and the trade commission.

At the outset, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, read from a letter written by the then Attorney General Harlan F. Stone to the trade commission in which it was held that the Aluminum Company had violated provisions of the consent decree of 1912. Among other things this decree forbade the shipment of defective materials to competitors.

Letters from the agents of the company and from competitors charging shipment of defective materials then were read into the record.

Attorney General Sargent said he could not say exactly when he first knew there was an investigation being made of the Aluminum case.

"This matter was in the hands of Col. Donovan in whom I had the greatest confidence," the attorney general said and for that reason he did not give it his personal attention. Newspapersmen first called his attention to the case, he testified. At that time he understood it was being made by the federal trade commission for investigation.

"And it is my understanding that it is still before that commission," he added.

The attorney general said he had not seen the letter of former Attorney General Stone until very recently.

Further questioning developed that the inquiry began within 80 days after Mr. Stone wrote to the commission on Jan. 30, 1925.

"What did the investigators do?" Mr. Sargent was asked.

"My information is they went to persons who purchased from the Aluminum company; that they put accountants to work to determine whether what they said was true; that they went to the offices of the Aluminum Company to make a check. In other words they sought information from every source."

"If you ask me," said Senator Walsh "I would have gone to the trade commission. When I started this inquiry, I went to those I thought knew something about it."

"You didn't come to see me," retorted the Attorney General. "If you had I would have told you a lot about it."

Senator Walsh insisted that a 3 to 2 resolution passed by the commission in February, 1925, withheld from the department of justice, not only the evidence received in confidence from the Aluminum company but all information received.

Senator Walsh produced the minutes of the trade commission in which commissioner Nugent said he agreed that what had been received as confidential should be held as confidential, but that other information from the company should not be withheld from the department of justice. The attorney general still adhered to his view that all the information withheld was confidential, basing this largely on the letter received by the department from the commission.

The examination of Mr. Sargent had not been concluded when the committee adjourned until Saturday.

PARIS VIEWS RISING SEINE WITH FRIGHT

Additional Rain Will Make Situation Grave—Much Property Destroyed

Paris —(AP)— The River Seine continues to raise. Provided there is no rain during the intervals and there is every probability there will be, the river is expected to cease its upward trend Sunday.

Workmen are busily engaged in making cement and sandbag barricades at all vulnerable points along the quays. These, however cannot prevent flooding by infiltration of places in the city at a lower level than the water. The outlook consequently is regarded with anxiety by the populations in such quarters within a certain distance of the river.

The situation in the suburbs, both up and down stream, is growing graver. While the water mark is well below previous record levels, the damage undoubtedly will be far greater than that of previous floods, for thousands of houses have been built on the banks of the river since 1910, most of them after the war when the housing problem became acute. Most of the houses are of a flimsy character.

In Belgium the flood conditions in the north, notably in the Escaut valley, are as bad as ever. In the remainder of the flooded areas conditions are slowly returning to normal.

Thursday night the Seine at the Austerlitz bridge showed a gauge of 26 feet. This was seven feet lower than that of the rise in 1910. In the Rhemes district the situation appears worse than in any of the other provinces.

Several subway stations in the center of Paris were inundated Friday.

A further rise of 18 inches will make it necessary to close the Austerlitz and Quai D'Orsay railway station.

DISCOVER GIRL WITH HER UNCLE

Missing Since Last February, Father Finds Her Held Prisoner in Chicago

Chicago —(AP)— Elsie Dunlevy, 15, niece of Manchester, Ia., who disappeared from her home last February was found Friday with a 60-year-old uncle, John Dunlevy, whom she accused of having held her a prisoner in a north side apartment here.

The girl was found after her father had searched many months through a letter smuggled out of the house and sent to Dunlevy's wife in Rochester, N. Y. The police said Dunlevy admitted the girl's accusations. He is under arrest.

The girl declared her uncle kidnapped her from her father's farm and that he beat her, threatened to kill her and would permit her to talk to no one. She was put under the care of a sister and an aunt by the police until the arrival of her parents.

Dunlevy is the father of five children. The girl's parents are hurrying here.

It was later learned that a baby girl had been born to the girl five months ago.

Officials at the hospital Friday said the girl refused to tell anything of herself or of the child's father. The baby is still alive.

MINING GROUPS FAIL TO AGREE

All Prepared to Remain Until Other Side Is Ready to Compromise

New York —(AP)— Individual members of the opposing groups in the anthracite wage conference are prepared to stick it out until the other side is ready to quit and move a sine die adjournment.

Thursday's discussion in the effort to bring an end to the hard coal strike, now in its fifth month, was described as perfunctory. Friday's meetings, so far as the situation appeared on the surface, promised nothing better.

Alvan Markle, chairman of the joint conference, is holding the six miners and six operators together in the hope they will hit upon some solution.

The operators are willing to arbitrate all questions on which no agreement can be reached. The miners want to negotiate a contract without calling in outside parties, and without declaring it unfair to ask them to arbitrate wages when the mine owners are unwilling to arbitrate the selling price of coal.

Representatives of the labor departments of the federal government and the state of Pennsylvania still are in New York waiting for results or for developments that would justify a move from Washington or Pennsylvania to bring about a settlement.

Manufacturers and merchants of the Wyoming valley have sent an appeal from Wilkesbarre to the conferees protesting against continuance of the tie up because of the suffering it has caused in the coal districts.

EAU CLAIRE WANTS CITY MANAGER PLAN

Eau Claire —(AP)— Circuit Judge James Wickham denied a motion by Roy P. Wilcox, counsel for the city of Eau Claire, to quash the petition of six Eau Claire citizens for a writ of mandamus to compel the city council to call a special election on the city manager plan of government as called for in a petition filed last October.

The court, Judge Wickham states, would not be justified in denying to a group of citizens rights granted them under the statutes.

Return of the petition to the court was ordered for Saturday, after which the court will render its decision on the citizen petition for a writ.

CITY READY TO BATTLE DEEP SNOW

New Equipment Will Enable Street Department to Keep Roads Open

The city street department considers itself well equipped for the annual winter battle against snow storms. It is better equipped for this work than at any time before. The department, it is true, had the same equipment a year ago, but had very little occasion to use it. Owing to the lack of snow storms last winter, the department did not use $1,000 of its $15,000 appropriation for snow removal.

Thus far this year, the department has fared equally well. While the first snowfall was very early and while snow has fallen quite frequently this year, at no time did it block up the streets. Thus the only work the department has had in this respect is at crosswalks. It is the rule, however, to encounter the worst snowfall after the middle of January, and that is why the department heads are not none too optimistic. About three years ago no severe storm visited this city until the latter part of February.

When the first real storm comes, it will find the city armed with two power graders and three V-shaped plows to be attached to automobile trucks. The graders are self-propelling and will do the heavy work. In former years the department spent thousands of dollars for tractor hire and rental of automobile trucks. By using its own machinery, the department expects to realize a saving, no matter what the weather conditions will be.

EAU CLAIRE WANTS CITY MANAGER PLAN

Eau Claire —(AP)— Circuit Judge James Wickham denied a motion by Roy P. Wilcox, counsel for the city of Eau Claire, to quash the petition of six Eau Claire citizens for a writ of mandamus to compel the city council to call a special election on the city manager plan of government as called for in a petition filed last October.

The court, Judge Wickham states, would not be justified in denying to a group of citizens rights granted them under the statutes.

Return of the petition to the court was ordered for Saturday, after which the court will render its decision on the citizen petition for a writ.

CITY READY TO BATTLE DEEP SNOW

New Equipment Will Enable Street Department to Keep Roads Open

The city street department considers itself well equipped for the annual winter battle against snow storms. It is better equipped for this work than at any time before. The department, it is true, had the same equipment a year ago, but had very little occasion to use it. Owing to the lack of snow storms last winter, the department did not use $1,000 of its $15,000 appropriation for snow removal.

Thus far this year, the department has fared equally well. While the first snowfall was very early and while snow has fallen quite frequently this year, at no time did it block up the streets. Thus the only work the department has had in this respect is at crosswalks. It is the rule, however, to encounter the worst snowfall after the middle of January, and that is why the department heads are not none too optimistic. About three years ago no severe storm visited this city until the latter part of February.

When the first real storm comes, it will find the city armed with two power graders and three V-shaped plows to be attached to automobile trucks. The graders are self-propelling and will do the heavy work. In former years the department spent thousands of dollars for tractor hire and rental of automobile trucks. By using its own machinery, the department expects to realize a saving, no matter what the weather conditions will be.

PARIS VIEWS RISING SEINE WITH FRIGHT

Additional Rain Will Make Situation Grave—Much Property Destroyed

Paris —(AP)— The River Seine continues to raise. Provided there is no rain during the intervals and there is every probability there will be, the river is expected to cease its upward trend Sunday.

Workmen are busily engaged in making cement and sandbag barricades at all vulnerable points along the quays. These, however cannot prevent flooding by infiltration of places in the city at a lower level than the water. The outlook consequently is regarded with anxiety by the populations in such quarters within a certain distance of the river.

The situation in the suburbs, both up and down stream, is growing graver. While the water mark is well below previous record levels, the damage undoubtedly will be far greater than that of previous floods, for thousands of houses have been built on the banks of the river since 1910, most of them after the war when the housing problem became acute. Most of the houses are of a flimsy character.

In Belgium the flood conditions in the north, notably in the Escaut valley, are as bad as ever. In the remainder of the flooded areas conditions are slowly returning to normal.

Thursday night the Seine at the Austerlitz bridge showed a gauge of 26 feet. This was seven feet lower than that of the rise in 1910. In the Rhemes district the situation appears worse than in any of the other provinces.

Several subway stations in the center of Paris were inundated Friday.

A further rise of 18 inches will make it necessary to close the Austerlitz and Quai D'Orsay railway station.

DISCOVER GIRL WITH HER UNCLE

Missing Since Last February, Father Finds Her Held Prisoner in Chicago

Chicago —(AP)— Elsie Dunlevy, 15, niece of Manchester, Ia., who disappeared from her home last February was found Friday with a 60-year-old uncle, John Dunlevy, whom she accused of having held her a prisoner in a north side apartment here.

The girl was found after her father had searched many months through a letter smuggled out of the house and sent to Dunlevy's wife in Rochester, N. Y. The police said Dunlevy admitted the girl's accusations. He is under arrest.

The girl declared her uncle kidnapped her from her father's farm and that he beat her, threatened to kill her and would permit her to talk to no one. She was put under the care of a sister and an aunt by the police until the arrival of her parents.

Dunlevy is the father of five children. The girl's parents are hurrying here.

It was later learned that a baby girl had been born to the girl five months ago.

Officials at the hospital Friday said the girl refused to tell anything of herself or of the child's father. The baby is still alive.

MINING GROUPS FAIL TO AGREE

All Prepared to Remain Until Other Side Is Ready to Compromise

New York —(AP)— Individual members of the opposing groups in the anthracite wage conference are prepared to stick it out until the other side is ready to quit and move a sine die adjournment.

Thursday's discussion in the effort to bring an end to the hard coal strike, now in its fifth month, was described as perfunctory. Friday's meetings, so far as the situation appeared on the surface, promised nothing better.

Alvan Markle, chairman of the joint conference, is holding the six miners and six operators together in the hope they will hit upon some solution.

The operators are willing to arbitrate all questions on which no agreement can be reached. The miners want to negotiate a contract without calling in outside parties, and without declaring it unfair to ask them to arbitrate wages when the mine owners are unwilling to arbitrate the selling price of coal.

Representatives of the labor departments of the federal government and the state of Pennsylvania still are in New York waiting for results or for developments that would justify a move from Washington or Pennsylvania to bring about a settlement.

Manufacturers and merchants of the Wyoming valley have sent an appeal from Wilkesbarre to the conferees protesting against continuance of the tie up because of the suffering it has caused in the coal districts.

Aspirant To Fiddling Honors Kin Of Coolidge

Boston —(AP)— John Wilder of Plymouth, Vt., 80 years old and the latest aspirant to fiddling championship honors, boasts of something more than 60 years of playing and his 100 year old violin—he is an uncle of President Coolidge.

The rugged old Vermont, who used to play "Old Zip Coo" for the future president when the latter was a youth in Plymouth, is here Friday to fill a theatrical engagement. In addition he plans to compete with any fiddler not younger than 60 years for the old time championship of New England.

Wilder did not know if his illustrious nephew knew about his plans.

"Don't know whether he'll like my playing or not he confided to reporters. "He never was much of a hand to, bother about his relations' affairs."

Wilder has not fiddled in public for 20 years, he said, and for that reason was uncertain of the outcome of his

ONLY 5 PER CENT OF YOUTH AFLAME, DRY LEAGUE SAYS

Education of Young People to Horror of Drink Is Aim of Prohibitionists

BY LEON M. SILER

New York — Not more than five to seven per cent of the youth of modern America is "aflame," the Anti-Saloon League of New York contends as it sets about an educational campaign to convert youth as a whole to the cause of prohibition.

"Fanning youth" talk has been grossly overdone, and it isn't true there has been a terrific breakdown of young America's morals.

For every boy or girl who shatters conventional standards of conduct in search of physical or mental thrills, there are 18 or 19 who are abiding by conventional standards and are shaping their lives toward normal manhood, womanhood and citizenship. Thus declares Orville S. Poland, the league's counsel and policy adviser.

The five to seven per cent estimate, says Poland, is based on reports of investigative bodies, mainly educational in character, throughout the United States.

There is only slightly more youthful "froth" in the big cities than in the rural districts, he adds.

Among age classifications, the percentage of boys and girls who seek crimson-hued diversions is highest for high school students of 15 to 18, the league survey showed.

Says Poland: "Ninety-three to ninety-five per cent of American youths, with minds still on an even keel, can be educated to support prohibition laws just as effectively as they can be educated to read and write."

"They need the education because in pre-prohibition days they were too young to realize permanently the open saloon's evils."

"We propose to visualize these evils anew, and drive their lessons home to the generation now about to assume the responsibility of voting."

"To some extent, it will be necessary to continue this educational work with the generations to come. But with the passing of the drinking era's last 'hangovers,' the prohibition sentiment which we seek to inspire in young minds will roll up like a snowball."

"Parents of the present day will aid us wholeheartedly, because those parents who have been unable to impress their boys and girls by their own efforts are in despair."

"The last eight years have formed a period of transition, in which enough drinking has continued to keep prohibition from being taken for granted."

INGLER TELLS WHY FROTH GET LOW GRADES

Presence in a new environment, difficulty finding adjustment, difficulties in appraising time, and not knowing how to study are the cause for college freshmen receiving low grades, according to Prof. Francis M. Ingler, dean of Brokaw Hall, Lawmen's dormitory.

In an address to all the students staying in the hall Tuesday night, Dean Ingler discussed the means for securing higher grades. "Accomplishment comes through consecutive effort rather than desultory application," he summed up, and gave some suggestions on the budgeting of time, study preparation, and similar student problems.

"Youth, moreover, responds more quickly to advice from some disinterested quarter than to advice from mothers and fathers."

"We have no idea of coercing young minds in our campaign. We simply are starting out to educate them."

"We will provide modern youth with as realistic as possible a picture of the exact conditions which first brought prohibition about."

"And youth, far less 'flaming' than sensationalists of today would persuade us, will respond in days to come with the supporting public opinion which prohibition enforcement needs."

ROSEBUSH MILL IN FAR WEST DOUBLES CAPACITY

More than $1,300,000 of new investment has been placed within the last six years to improve the property of the Inland Empire Paper mill at Millwood, Wash., according to Judson G. Rosebush, president of the Patten Paper company, Appleton. Mr. Rosebush also is president of the Inland concern. With these improvements the mill has doubled its capacity.

More money, however, will be required for future expansion. Mr. Rosebush says. It is expected that about $2,500,000 will be spent within the next five years in order to complete the program of improvement at the Washington plant.

WISCONSIN MAGAZINE TELLS OF APPLETON

Appleton's part in the Wisconsin better cities contest is described in a special edition of the Wisconsin magazine, published in Madison, which is just off the press. The publication contains a 2-page advertisement also, setting forth the advantages of Appleton as a place to live. It was paid for by the chamber of commerce and the city of Appleton. Each city which was in the contest is given mention in the edition and Kenosha, winner of first place, is featured. Appleton won third place in the contest.

48 AGED APPLY TO COUNTY FOR PENSION HELP

County Has Only $5,000 to Meet Demands for Help
Under New Law

Judge Fred V. Heilmann, county court, and the county old age pension committee consisting of County Supervisors David Hodgins, Charles Wendt and James Farrell, are investigating the applications of 48 candidates for old age pensions.

With only $5,000 appropriated by the county for this purpose, the officials will have a task to "make both ends meet." It was indicated that probably only 35 claims would be honored and the others rejected. The individual pensions also will have to be held down to the bone in order to make the total sum reach.

The old age pensions committee, which also acts on poor, mothers pensions and blind claims, will investigate the merits of all the pension claims and consider what other incomes the applicants may have and also their physical condition. This study may result in investigation of serious conditions said to exist in some homes. It developed in the hearings that in some cases the children had taken over the property of the parents and forced them into poor houses.

The committee will allow up to $1 a day, if the available money is adequate, to deserving aged persons. This will be refunded at the end of one year in the proportion of one-

BIG ORDERS KEEP TOY PLANT BUSY

Reorganized Corporation Has Orders to Keep Plant Operating Until Christmas

For the first time in its history, the toy factory located on the corner of Duane and Water streets and owned by the Toy Corporation of America will run in January and February. According to William Wright, manager, such demand for toys has been never before known in the toy industry of the country. In former years, plants were closed down after the Christmas rush.

The Toy Corporation of America, third by the state and two-thirds by the localities in which the applicants live.

One of the provisions of the law is that where pension applicants possess small homes, a trust deed must be furnished so that after the death of the pensioner the county may claim a part of the money of the estate to make up for the amounts paid during the life of the pensioner. This is meant to prevent the heirs who refused to provide for the aged persons from gobbling up the estate, and is designed to make them more solicitous for the welfare of the aged.

formerly known as the Toy company of America, has headquarters in New York and the Appleton plant is its only factory. Thirty are employed on the force which makes 58 articles, including juvenile furniture, doll furniture, and wooden toys of all kinds.

In the rush which preceded Christmas, orders were received from every state in the union, one even coming from as far as Hawaii, written in Spanish.

Carload orders now on file make certain that the plant will run full force from now until next Christmas. On Jan. 15, Mr. Wright will leave for New York city to attend the national toy fair. Exhibitions of the products of the local factory will be shown at the Breslin hotel and at the firm's New York office.

MILL EXECUTIVES HEAR LECTURE ON SEWAGE DISPOSAL

Milwaukee Man Gives Illustrated Talk at Industrial Forum Meeting

The latest and most efficient methods of sewage disposal were described in detail for foremen, city officials and mill employees of Appleton, Neenah, Menasha and Kaukauna by Robert Cramer, Milwaukee engineer, at the opening meeting of 1926 Industrial Forum of the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening in the association building. Men were invited to attend the meeting from every city of the valley in order to help them with the important problem, but only the four cities were represented. Members of the Appleton city council who expected to be present, were unable to attend due to a long session at the city hall.

Mr. Cramer has made a personal study of the sewage conditions in this country and in England and Germany beside being secretary of the Milwaukee sewerage commission for a number of years. He gave a two-hour talk illustrated with stereopticon views of the construction and operation of the Milwaukee plant and diagrams of new methods of the system.

Mr. Cramer started his talk by describing old methods of disposal, such as letting nature take its course through sedimentation and oxidation into large streams. However, in densely populated districts nature cannot handle the work efficiently enough, he said. Twenty-three years ago when sewage was discharged into Lake Michigan, typhoid was unknown in Milwaukee. Mr. Cramer said but the disease increased until ten years ago when a sewerage commission was formed and $10,000,000 was spent to carry sewage to Jones Island for treatment.

It costs Milwaukee a large sum each year for the work. The plant costs $10,000,000 and 180 ton of coal is burned a day at $1,000,000 a year. The plant is not yet completed for satisfactory operation. Partial relief is secured by flushing systems or by pumping water into the upper rivers.

MRS. RINDAL GETS $50 IN NEWSPAPER CONTEST

Mrs. S. B. Rindal, 127 E. Summer-st., has been awarded the $50 prize in a doll naming contest conducted by the Milwaukee Journal. Her name of "Joy Nell," an expression resembling the newsboys' twang for "Journal" took first place and she received the check which was promised by the newspaper. The doll is one which figures in a daily fashion strip. Mrs. Rindal's title was picked from a list of 7,000 submitted.

COUNTY LIABLE FOR CARE OF NON-RESIDENT POOR

A question over the responsibility for a poor charge has been decided in an opinion furnished by the state attorney general's department to Lonsdorf and Staidt, district attorney and assistant district attorney.

The city of Appleton had filed a claim for relief for a person who had moved away from Appleton and lost her legal residence. The county questioned the legality of the claim, but the attorney general has ruled that while a person who leaves a city for one year loses his right to claim the city as his home, the poor relief furnished that person by the city constitutes an expense for which the county must pay.

WILLIAMS WILL SPEAK AT JOINT FORUM DINNER

Lions Club Will Sponsor Gathering Where Cities Contest Is Discussed

Aubrey Williams, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, Madison, has consented to speak at a joint forum meeting here on Jan. 18. The Lions club is in charge of the program this time and is making the arrangements. Other groups Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and Appleton Teachers association. Mr. Williams will speak concerning the recent better cities contest, in which Appleton took third place. It is possible that a trophy cup merited by the city will be presented at that time.

Factors which kept Appleton from being in first place as the best Wisconsin city in which to live will be explained by Mr. Williams. He also will give interesting facts about the findings in the contest and the possible remedies for poor conditions.

This subject is of more than usual interest to each community, as was shown when Mr. Williams and Judge Marvin B. Rosenberry spoke recently at Oshkosh. They had an audience of about 300. The place of the Appleton meeting and further details will be announced later.

OOSTERHUS SPEAKS AT PARENT-TEACHER MEET

A. G. Oosterhus is to outline the course of study for Junior high schools and discuss problems pertaining to the school at the Parent-Teacher meeting at 7:30 Monday night at the Roosevelt school. Prof. Earl Baker is to lead the community singing. A vote will be taken on an amendment to the constitution providing for an additional member on the executive committee.

A reception for parents and teachers will follow the meeting. The main purpose is to give the parents an opportunity to become acquainted with the teachers. Mrs. O. K. Kloebe, is chairman of the social committee.

DOZEN CITY OFFICIALS WILL GO TO ROAD SHOW

Perhaps a dozen city officials will go to Chicago Monday for the annual good roads exposition which will be in session all week. The common council authorized the expenses for those who desire to be present. The purpose is to gain the latest information on road building, paving and equipment.

Among those now planning to attend are Mayor John Goodland, Jr., R. M. Connelly, city engineer, R. F. Hackworth, street commissioner, and Aldermen Mark Catlin, C. D. Thompson, Fliny Earle, C. F. Smith, R. F. McGowan, Jerry Callahan, Charles Fosse, R. G. Ziske and J. H. Fiedler.

Some Mis-statements Made About Duco

All new finishes are Duco." Just because all automobiles have engines, all are not Cadillacs or Packards. There is only one Duco—that is Du Pont Duco.

"It is too dull." Duco can be had in a dull or high gloss finish. A recent improvement enables the manufacturer to supply a Duco finish almost as glossy as the old-type finish. And a dull Duco finish can be quickly brought to a high polish with Duco Polish No. 7.

We will be glad to answer any specific questions about Duco, its manufacture, application or wearing qualities.

FACTS ABOUT OUR TAXES
Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman made a speech at La Crosse, Wisconsin, this week in which he shed some interesting light on the tax situation. In the first place he showed that the remission of state property taxes this year does not represent economies in state government. On the contrary, the political machine at Madison is going to take out of the counties of Wisconsin as a whole some $5,000,000 more than it did last year. Its revenues from taxes of the individual and of income tax paying corporations will be $12,000,000 more this year, whereas it has theoretically given up some $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 in direct taxes.

These are facts that the secretary of state gives from the official records and estimates. The cost of government at Madison, Mr. Zimmerman says, is constantly going up. There are no economies there that represent a saving to the taxpayer, nor does he predict any. On the contrary, he expects to see the extravagances of state government piling up higher and higher each year. There could be no objection, and probably would be none, on the part of taxpayers to a relatively small increase in the cost of state government from year to year, created by the natural growth of the state and an expansion of public service and the development of public improvements.

But the history of the growth of state expenditures shows that it has not been confined to these legitimate causes. Expenditures have gone up by leaps and bounds, doubling and trebling, in the period of a relatively few years. The extravagances are notorious. The indirect contributions to politics are equally notorious. No effort is made to reduce these extravagances or to do away with them. The taxpayers will recall that at the last session of the legislature vigorous efforts were made to legislate enforced economies on the administration, but they failed. The tax revision of that session was to secure larger revenues to meet the squanderings of the state government, a fact that Secretary of State Zimmerman has made clear. The use of the word squanderings is our own. Mr. Zimmerman would call it expenditures.

This is the time of year when taxes are being paid. All taxpayers, with possibly a few unusual exceptions, will find that they are paying more this year than last as a result of the legislature's new tax law. Their tax receipts will prove it. The small taxpayer, no matter how small, is as hard hit as anyone. He has had no relief and can have none. In fact, the smaller he is the harder he is hit, so far as property taxes go, and relief in this respect was the promise of the administration. It is a case where the taxpayer does not have to take the statement of the newspaper or the governor. All he has to do is to take his tax receipt and compare it with his receipt of last year, and in addition to this receipt he should include his gasoline tax of 2 cents per gallon.

The tax revision of the last legislature was a huge political fraud. It benefits no one and it penalizes every one. One of its purposes was to advance class prejudice, and the other was to administer to extravagant spending. It may have succeeded in the latter, but we doubt if it will capitalize many votes as the result of the transaction.

Exactly ten years ago, according to Mr. Zimmerman, 91 per cent of all taxes collected in Wisconsin for the state and its political sub-division was from general property levies. Today less than 50 per cent of government income, state and local, is from general property. This does not mean that general property has been relieved of taxation, but that taxes on income and in other forms have reached startling proportions. And we must not overlook the fact that all taxation, no matter in what form applied, goes into the daily cost of living.

COURT OR LEAGUE
Considerable to-do is being made over the statement expressed in the world court debate by Senator Bruce of Maryland to the effect that entry of the United States into the court would "doubtless be eventually followed by its entry into the League of Nations," and that "nothing can commit us to the full extent of our international duty except membership in the League of Nations." This represents the individual opinion of the senator from Maryland. It may represent the opinion of the Democratic party. It may even represent the opinion of a great majority of the American people, whose thoughts concerning international affairs have obviously changed since the election of 1920.

Nevertheless, it is merely an opinion, the fulfillment of which necessarily depends upon major public opinion throughout the nation. We shall never go into the League of Nations because we join the world court. Any discriminating mind will concede this without argument. If we should eventually go into the League, it will be because the conscience of America is convinced that it is our duty to go in, and that we may consistently do so under suitable reservations without endangering our sovereign interests. A proposition of this kind must inevitably rest on its own merits.

All that we are concerned with today is the question whether we shall adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice. A small band of irreconcilables says we shall not. The representatives of the people, that is, clearly a majority of them, and clearly a majority of the people themselves, say we shall. This is proved beyond possibility of denial. President Coolidge and his Republican predecessor say so. Every president who has dealt with the subject has favored American participation in such a tribunal. The claim that the Court is a part or servant of the League is spurious. It is a separate institution quite as much as the Hague arbitration court. It embodies an effort of practically all of the nations of the world to adjudicate their differences and to build up and codify a system of international law. Surely this is a praiseworthy undertaking. Surely it cannot help but to contribute to the peace and stability of the world. There is not one of the arguments raised against the court that can not be exploded by the simple use of logic and morality.

Senator Bruce's "slip," as some of the world court proponents in the senate regard it, should not prejudice the case for the court. He has given expression to a hope that opponents of the court assert will be realized by adherence, and which is the real basis of their attack. If their contention were to hold good we could never take any progressive action in international affairs. We shall cross the League bridge when we come to it, and our decision regarding the world court can have no effect upon our decision then, which will be determined exclusively by international developments and by the judgment of our people. The two questions have no relation by any stretch of the imagination.

A test vote in the senate indicates that adherence to the world court will be approved. Evidently the attempt to discredit the court, and to misrepresent its relation to the League and the consequences of American participation, has failed.

ALL ABOUT THE VEINS
The blood in the veins is red, as it is in the arteries, though perhaps a darker red. The difference in shade is so slight that it is impossible to say from the color of the blood whether bleeding is from a vein or from an artery, ordinarily. If the blood spurts up with each heart beat, that indicates that it is from an artery; bleeding from a vein is a steady flow. Believe me, children, when one is operating all blood is just red.

The capacity of all the veins is two or three times greater than the capacity of all arteries. Many arteries have two or more veins to take care of the return of blood.

Veins have thinner walls than arteries, and their walls contain little or no muscle. Vein walls, unlike artery walls, collapse when the pressure of the blood within them is not sustained. Veins are far less elastic than arteries. They are generally more superficial, nearer the surface and less supported and protected by muscles, bones and other structures than the arteries are. They play a passive role, mere conveyors for the returning blood, and the pressure of the blood in the veins is much less than the pressure in the arteries. The flow of blood in the veins is slower than the flow in the arteries.

No pulse wave or pulsation reaches the veins. In fact the pulse does not reach the capillaries except in certain abnormal conditions, such as aortic valve leakage, when a bluish or flushing of lips, cheeks or fingernails occurs with each heart beat. What causes the blood to flow through the veins back to the heart?

The veins are equipped with valves which generally prevent backflow of the blood, and by aid of the valves the blood is driven onward in the veins by the pressure of the voluntary muscles upon the veins, by the suction effect of the chest during the intake of air into the lungs, to some extent by gravity. The elasticity and muscular contraction of the veins are of practically no help to the circulation. The factors mentioned—the activity of the voluntary muscles of the body, the effect of breathing, and the force of gravity, are all important in their bearing on the causation and relief of derangements of the venous circulation.

Inspiration (taking in air) helps to draw blood through the veins toward the heart. Normal expiration (which means merely letting the air out of the chest) has no appreciable effect, but forced expiration, as in blowing wind instruments, tends to oppose the venous circulation; violent or prolonged expiration commonly obstructs the return of blood so that veins in the neck and head may be seen standing out.

The large trunk veins constitute a venous clatter holding normally about a pint of blood, shut off from the veins of the head and extremities by valves. During the intake of air in normal breathing this blood is largely drawn from the abdomen up into the chest, because of the lowered pressure in the chest during inspiration. Through the effect of the valves, an inspiration also draws blood from the veins of the head down into the chest. The great vein trunk from the brain (internal jugular) has a very efficient valve where it empties into the innominate vein near the heart; this valve closes the orifice and prevents backing up of blood into the head during straining or violent expiration. The Creator wrought nobly here, for without the pair of strong valves to protect the brain from such congestion we should get dizzy whenever we made any violent effort.

In the general placing of valves in the veins, however, it would seem that nature never intended that man should be an upright animal, for the veins in the trunk generally lack valves, which would be helpful to the circulation now that we are on our hind legs most of the time; whereas the veins of the four limbs and the neck are well equipped with valves, those in the neck protecting the primitive individual from cerebral congestion while grazing.

The site chosen for Appleton's new $50,000 industrial school building was at the corner of College and Drew-st on the property owned by Franklin T. Smith, according to action taken by the industrial school board.
About 200,000 Bulgarian, Austrian and German troops were now along the frontier ready for an onslaught against the allies.
City Attorney E. W. Wendlandt of New London, was in Appleton that day on business.
While returning to her home yesterday afternoon, Mrs. John C. Kuntz slipped on the ice on Superior-st. and broke her right arm. She was about 60 years of age.
Talcut Barnes was conveyed home from Eagle river the previous day suffering with a severe attack of the grip.
The largest crowd of skaters out this year was at Jones park last evening to take advantage of the first good night's skating.
Rural mail carriers were complaining of ice along the routes and were making a plea for farmers to place ashes or sand on their driveways wherever possible.
Fully 2,000 birds of various kinds including an ostrich were being entered at the poultry show to be given the latter part of the month by the Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association.

WAUPACA MAYOR TO STAY OUT OF RACE IN SPRING
Personal Business Affairs Will Not Permit Him to Be Candidate Again

Waupaca—Mayor Paronto has been informing his friends that he will not be a candidate for reelection at the spring election. The mayor states his personal business matters will not give him sufficient time for the office and were he to continue, one or the other would suffer for the lack of attention.

Mr. Paronto was reelected to the office two years ago with no opposition. Besides the last two terms as mayor he also served in the same capacity a number of years ago. Last summer Mr. Paronto through falling health decided to sell his barber business and since has improved in health considerably. At present no one has been advanced as a candidate.

Word was received in this city on Thursday from Milwaukee, as to the punishment meted out to Jim Curtis by Federal Judge F. A. Geiger. Pleading guilty to a liquor charge, Curtis was fined $100 and costs. The case grew out of a visit by federal agents who procured a gallon of intoxicating liquor in the night time from Curtis at his farm five miles east of this city. Records show that the defendant never before at any time had ever been caught in the snares of the law.

NEW QUARTERS
William S. Edwards, proprietor of the Edwards studio at Main and W. Fulton-sts, has leased the upper floor of the adjoining building and will occupy that space in addition to the present quarters of the business. In expanding the business Mr. Edwards will provide a setting room, waiting room and printing room. The entrance will be in the same hall as was the former waiting room door. This space has been vacated as a club room by the local Masonic order, which has moved into its own building.

Mrs. C. W. Chesley, W. Fulton-st will entertain the members of the L. T. B. club at her home on Friday night.

C. C. Boyce won the first prize at schafkopf tournament at the I. O. O. F. hall by the Odd Fellows on Wednesday night. Seivert Nielsen won the consolation honors.

After a slight decline in prices of potatoes to growers here during the forepart of the week, the peak of the season was again reached Thursday at $3.50 per hundred pounds.

Road conditions in and out of Waupaca continue to improve, particularly Highway No. 13 which is nearly bare. But one route out of the city has any snow to speak of and that is No. 49 to Jola.

John Seybold Reelected President and Otto Schley Stays as Cashier
Forest Junction—The fifteenth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Forest Junction State bank was held of the town hall Wednesday.

Of the 300 shares of capital stock, 180 were represented. Six members of the board of directors, John Seybold, G. H. Schmitt, M. P. Wiechman, John F. Otto, John Greve and W. C. Allen, were reelected. William Dwyer was elected as a new member of the board, Maurice Meahan, who recently removed from here to De Pere, having declined further service.

Following the stockholders' meeting the newly elected directors went into session, at which John Seybold and G. H. Schmitt were reelected to their respective positions of president and vice president. Otto Schley was re-engaged as cashier with M. P. Wiechman assistant; Carl Schley will again serve as bookkeeper.

The bank has a capital of $30,000. The published statement of the condition of the bank at the close of 1925 lists resources slightly in excess of $253,000.

Among other annual meetings of local corporations which are scheduled for this month is that of the Calumet Telephone Co., which will be held on the afternoon of Jan. 19. At a meeting of the Forest Junction Hook and Ladder Company next Tuesday evening, a local fire chief will be chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Billon of Otto Arndt, who had held the position for many years.

Henry Kreilmann, Brillion town treasurer, will be stationed at the Forest Junction State bank for the collection of taxes Jan. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bruecker of Ashtenton were business callers in the village on Wednesday.

Mrs. John F. Otto and son Leonard made a business trip to Brillion Wednesday afternoon.

John Loefer and son Ira were Appleton callers on Monday afternoon.

K. P. Fix Dates For Dedication

February 17, 18, 19 were the dates set for the dedication of the new Knights of Pythias hall, the former Methodist Episcopal church, at the first meeting in the lodge hall Thursday evening. The gathering was held in the basement as work on the auditorium, which is being converted into the lodge room, has not been completed.

Although not many of the program details have been worked out, the general order of events for the three-day dedication has been planned. On Wednesday, Feb. 17 the Pythians will hold open house in the afternoon and evening, and people in Appleton are invited to inspect the new lodge. The dedication service will be on Thursday, Feb. 18, and will be conducted by local and state officers of the order. It is expected that many lodges from all over the state will be represented at this service. On Friday, Feb. 19, which is the anniversary of the founding of the order, a banquet and dance will be held in the new lodge room.

Committee chairman were named at the Thursday evening meeting, and these men will appoint committees to work with them. The general committee is composed of the past chairmen with Elmer Root as chairman.

Other committee chairmen are Frank McGowan, open house; A. A. Wettengel, dedication; George R. Veltengel and Claude Snider, dinner dance; Herman Heckert, invitations; Robert Schmidt, programs; H. L. Post, decorations; J. H. Neller, publicity.

The committee in charge of the banquet to be held April 7 to 10 gave a report. H. W. Maffet is general chairman of arrangements and Mrs. George Schmidt is chairman of the Pythian Sisters committee.

RACKET CLUB HOLDS SECOND DANCE PARTY

About 45 couples attended the second of the series of winter dance parties given by the racket club Thursday night in the Crystal room of the Conway hotel. Music for dancing was furnished by Al Gabel's orchestra. An exhibition of the Charleston was given by Lester Bauernfeind of Appleton and Viola Meneski of Menasha.

The Racket club was organized about a month ago and is composed of about 50 married couples. It is a social club and plans to hold a dance party each month during the winter season. The next party will be given the early part of February.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Missionary society of St. Mary church met Thursday afternoon at Columbia hall. Cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Arnold Wittlin at schafkopf and Mrs. P. J. Vaughn at bridge. This was the first of the series of parties to be given by the society. A number of the women spent the afternoon sewing on missionary articles.

The Rev. F. L. Schreckenberg discussed the topic, "My Life and My Service" at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church Thursday afternoon. The society decided to hold a sewing and social meeting on Thursday, Jan. 21 in the sub-auditorium of the church. Mrs. August E. Rademacher will be hostess at the meeting. Hostesses at the Thursday meeting were Mrs. Walter Krueger, Mrs. Ervin Klebenow, Mrs. Albert C. Roehl and Mrs. John Wagner.

The St. Paul Ladies Aid society voted at its meeting Thursday afternoon to retain all its officers. The Rev. T. J. Sauer is president of the society; Mrs. Fred Hartung, secretary and Mrs. John Ringel, treasurer. Mrs. Arnold Herrmann is treasurer of the flower treasury and Mrs. Emil Schwandt is secretary. Reports on work of the past years were given. A social hour followed the business session.

H. S. CAGE TEAM
IN GOOD SHAPE
FOR HARD GAME

Waupaca Will Be Foe in Second Home Game of Current Season

Kaukauna—Coach William Smith's Kaukauna high school basketball team are ready to face Waupaca on the local floor Friday evening with the team much strengthened by the return of "Mac" Macrone, veteran from last year, who was ill at the time of the West Green Bay game.

The team has been practicing steadily the last week and is in tip top condition. Wednesday evening the boys scrimmaged with the Maroons, a local amateur team and the high school men showed up very well. Kilgas and Macrone probably will change off playing the position held by Kilgas at the West Green Bay game.

Others who probably will start the game are McFadden, Farwell, Gonyo and Boyd. On the sidelines will be Nole, Miller, Verbeten, Krontrost and Walsh.

The seat sale has been exceptional by good and as large a crowd is looked for as attended the last game. The new plan of admitting grade and junior high school students for 10 cents and allowing them to fill two special sections of bleachers that have been built on the platform at one end of the hall probably will swell the crowd considerably.

Although there still are a few good seats left in the reserved section it is thought that these will be taken before Friday night. According to W. T. Sullivan this new plan of reserving sections at the games has been very successful and will be a regular feature at high school games in the future.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The Sunshine club met at schafkopf were Mrs. Peter Anderson and Mrs. E. G. Driessen.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus met for a regular meeting at the K. of C. clubrooms Thursday afternoon. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. Louis Creviere and Mrs. J. Hoolihan, at bridge by Mrs. L. Brenzel and Mrs. C. Brandt, at five hundred by Mrs. F. Banning and Miss V. Berens. Hostess for next meeting will be Mrs. H. T. Runte, Mrs. A. Lang, Mrs. D. Reardon, Mrs. W. N. Nolan, Mrs. F. Schneider and Mrs. H. Ryan.

St. Mary court of Catholic Order of Foresters will give a card party and dance Friday evening at the Elks hall. Music for the dance will be furnished by the Electric City orchestra. Prizes will be awarded at schafkopf and five hundred.

Odile chapter of Eastern Star will hold its regular meeting Friday evening in Masonic hall. After a 6:30 dinner officers will be installed.

The regular meeting of the Electric City chapter of De Molay will be held Thursday evening in Masonic hall. A large crowd attended the meeting. Routine business was disposed of.

MAROONS HURL DEFY
AT VALLEY CAGERS

Kaukauna—The Maroons, a Kaukauna amateur basketball team has issued a challenge to any team of 145 pounds in the Fox river valley. The Maroons are an aggregation of former high school men who play basketball for the sport of the game. The boys have been playing together off and on for the last three years.

The Maroons practice only once a week, every Saturday night at the high school auditorium. The following men are members of the team: William Taylor, Jacob Hovde, Gilbert St. Mitchell, Lloyd Meenees, Elmer Ott, Byron Bleich and Glen Miller.

"Mac" McGinnis, manager of the team and anyone desiring a game will write to him. William Taylor is captain of the team.

SWIMMING POOL IS REOPENED FOR USE

Kaukauna—The swimming pool at the Municipal building was reopened this week after being closed during the Christmas holidays when the pool received a new coat of paint. This is the first time in two years that the pool has been painted.

The same schedule as before has been adopted for this year. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays are for men and boys and Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for women and girls. On Tuesday nights the pool is open to men only and on Wednesday nights women only.

Memorial Mass
Kaukauna—Members of St. Anne's court 226 Women Catholic order of Foresters will attend a memorial mass and receive communion in a body at 8 o'clock Sunday morning at Holy Cross church for a deceased member, Mrs. Gertrude Zimmermann.

Hot Lunch at Forster's, Darby Road, Saturday Night.

$1,000 INCREASE
IN RECEIPTS AT
P. O. OVER 1925

Increase in Postage Rates Accounts for Half of Increase, Mill Says

Kaukauna—Business at the Kaukauna postoffice increased $1,000 over 1924, according to a report prepared by A. R. Mill postmaster. Half of this increase was in Christmas season, the records show.

The reason for increase in holiday business, according to Mr. Mill, was the increased postage. Last year the bulk of the Christmas business was in 1 cent stamps, but this year the bulk was in 2 cent stamps.

There was no increase in wrongly addressed or unaddressed mail this Christmas, other than the natural increase in the amount of mail. If any change was noticed at all at the local post office it was that the patrons were taking more care with their mail than usual. Especially noticeable was the fact that the parcels that were mailed this year were wrapped and tied with much better care and also more care was taken with addresses.

CLINIC BUILDING WILL BE FINISHED IN SPRING

Kaukauna—Workmen who are constructing the new building on Wisconsin-ave. which is to be occupied by Dr. G. J. Flanagan and E. J. Dolinske are completing outside work. Only a few minor details remained to be finished before the workmen will begin work on the interior of the building.

It is expected that the building will be ready by spring so that the doctors can move from their present temporary headquarters. The new building will be one of the finest and most completely equipped medical offices in the state.

ONLY $23,000 PAID
IN TAXES THIS YEAR

Kaukauna—According to officials at the city hall, tax collections this year are coming in slower than they have for many years. To date only approximately $23,000 of the $287,017.32 to be collected in Kaukauna has been turned in. Only 274 persons have paid their taxes.

According to Albert Lindstrom, city treasurer, instead of the rush he has expected after the first of January there was a decided falling off in the number of people calling to pay up. The city treasurer is in his office at the city hall daily from 9 to 12 and from 1:30 to 4.

RAITMAIER IS FIRST TO BUY DOG LICENSE

Kaukauna—W. Raitmaier of this city was the first to pay the tax for a dog license paying on his shepherd dog "Bud." Mr. Raitmaier paid his dog tax on Dec. 26.

Last year 338 people in Kaukauna paid licenses to keep dogs and this year the number is expected to increase although to date only 22 persons have paid dog taxes. The tax for a female is $2 and the tax for a male is $1. Taxes are paid at the City hall to the city treasurer.

Baby's face and back covered with eczema
Resinol stopped itching quickly and healed blisters

Salem, Va., Feb. 5—"I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit Resinol has been to my baby who had a bad case of eczema. The skin on her face and back was very red at first, and in a few days broke out in little blisters. The itching was awful and made the child very cross. I tried one preparation that had been highly recommended, but it did her no good. I then bought a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap and the itching stopped after the first treatment. In a few days the red look was gone and in a very short time the cure was complete. I shall always keep Resinol in my home!" (Signed) Mrs. L. J. Carter, 165 Union St.

OLSON ACCEPTS PASTORATE IN MONTANA CHURCH

Will Preach His Last Sermon to Holy Trinity Congregation Sunday

Special to the Post-Crescent
New London—The Rev. J. Richard Olson will preach his last sermon to his congregation of Holy Trinity English Lutheran church in this city on Sunday morning. He has accepted a call to the English Lutheran church of Billings, Ont., and will fill the pulpit in his new pastorate for the first time on Sunday, Jan. 17.

The Rev. Mr. Olson who came to the local parish a year ago last August, has had a change under consideration for the last month and has finally decided to accept the call. The new parish is larger and therefore offers him a greater opportunity for service.

No new pastor has as yet been selected for the church here, but provision has been made for one to fill the pulpit until the congregation secures a new minister.

During his stay in this city, Mr. Olson has been quite prominent in local affairs. He is a charter member of the New London Golf club, president of the Gun club, an officer of the Lions club, belongs to the local tennis club and is president of the Waupaca County Ministerial association.

BEWARE THE
COUGH OR COLD
THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga., adv.

STORY OF PARISIAN DANCER'S SACRIFICE ABSORBING FILM

Paris, with all its glitter and frivolity, and Mae Murray, with all the glitter of Paris itself, make a gorgeous pageant out of "The Masked Bride," Miss Murray's latest starring vehicle, playing at the Elite theatre for the last time today. The story is a stirring drama of adventure, mystery and underworld plot, but set in the spectacular cafes of Paris; the strange haunts of the Apache, the bizarre underground resorts of the strange unknown people of Paris—and in a castle among the aristocracy.

"HIS SECRETARY" A CHARMING FILM

Hobart Henley believes that he has another picture that is as human and delightful as "The Gay Old Dog," the picture that has always been the favorite of all he has ever directed.

"The Gay Old Dog" was produced several years ago, and though not at the time a great box-office success, Henley believes that if it had been produced now, it would have been a sensation.

However, he has in "His Secretary," the picture coming to the Elite Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, one of the most charming stories ever written. It is, that of a plain stenographer, plain merely because she doesn't realize her beauty. Norma Shearer plays the girl, and has given one of the most interesting portrayals of her career.

Her employers are played by Lew Cody and Willard Louis, as the law firm of Colman and Sloan. Other members of the cast are Mabel Van Duren, Karl Dane, Gwen Lee, Estelle Clark and Ernest Gillen.

POPULAR BARRIE STORY IS NOW SCREEN HIT

"A Kiss for Cinderella," which starts Monday at Fischers Appleton Theatre next Monday may be set down as a distinct triumph for every one who had a share in its making.

As all the world and his wife know, the story is the brain child of that famous Scottish master of whimsical and poetical writing, James M. Barrie, and the old-times will recall that Maude Adams achieved a great measure of success with it as a stage vehicle many years ago.

The story has lost none of its delicate flavor and essential whimsy by its transition to the screen, and, in its finished photoplay form, stands out as a delightful modern romance, beautifully staged and directed by Herbert Brenon and charmingly enacted by a superlative cast, headed by Betty Bronson, Tom Moore and Esther Ralston.

The central character is an imaginative little London waif, who has so hypnotized herself with a book of fairy tales that she believes she is Cinderella and confidently looks forward to the day when her fairy godmother will take her to the ball where the Prince will choose her for his bride. How her dreams of love lead to a real life-romance with a policeman is the surprising denouement of the plot.

The magnificent dream ball, introduced to show the workings of the little slavey's mind, is a novel combination of gorgeous fantasy and glorified reality, and makes up a scene that would bring roars of laughter from a wooden Indian.

Betty Bronson handles the role of the orphan, opened a three day's run last night. It drew a capacity house.

With a superb cast, Mix has made what we believe is the best Western motion picture of his career. It has thrilling action, breath-taking suspense and a comedy relief which is handled expertly and is calculated to make the most case-hardened film fan shake with laughter. Lynn Reynolds directed the picture and made the screen adaptation. He has done a fine job.

The story is adapted from the famous stage play, "The Orphan," and Tom Mix, on Tony, rides triumphantly through scene after scene filled with hair-raising incident with all the gay abandon of his old time films.

A RUGGED ROMANCE OF PIONEER DAYS

If there is a thrill left in you, if your memory can go back to the days of real sport, when the greatest hero of your imagination was the two-gang man of the plains—then you have a great evening's entertainment in store for you at the New Bijou theatre. Tom Mix in "The Deadwood Coach," a William Fox screen adaptation of Clarence Mulford's novel.

SPINSTERHOOD

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BARBARA HAWLEY, 25, after teaching school three years, decided to go into newspaper work in order to see life.
 When her fiancé, BRUCE REY, NOLDS, objects, she breaks with him and gets a job on the Appleton Telegraph, of which ANDREW McDERMOTT, a close friend of her father before his death, is managing editor. She almost involves the paper in a "Nobel suit" during her first day at the office, when she erroneously reports MORRIS PATTINHAM dead.
 Barbara becomes a friend of BOB JEFFRIES, rough and ready police reporter, who promises to "show her the ropes."
 On her second day at the office the West Plains Limited is wrecked near Appleton and 30 persons are killed.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V

The Telegraph office sprang into instant activity.
 Wells grasped his desk telephone, sent the office boy into the composing room, summoned reporters about his desk.

"Get Jeffries on the wire," he said to somebody, and then his eyes fell on Barbara, who was lingering in the outskirts of the crowd. "Tell Jeffries to wait for Miss Hawley, and then shoot straight out to Bar-Jones. Give me a call at once, and then work toward a second extra by 11 o'clock."

Barbara could scarcely believe her ears. She found herself walking toward the desk, however, and in a moment was receiving instructions. "We'll see what you can do, Miss Hawley," said Wells, looking keenly at her. "Jeffries will cover the fundamentals of the accident, from the straight news angle. You will pick up heart-throb notes among survivors and wounded. Get us one long human-interest feature and grab all the shorter sidelights you can. Write whatever you would read, if you were on the outside."

He was gone in a streak toward the composing room door, where the foreman was waiting for him.

Barbara took a step toward her desk. Her knees wobbled beneath her. But she went on.

As though from outside her consciousness came two voices. The society editor and a reporter were looking at her from a corner.

"Too bad Jensen is off," said the man. "This story would be pie for him. Golly, what a feature yarn he'd spin out of it. And Dollar and Jones both out on assignments too. Kind a tough on old Wells."

"Yes," said Miss Badger, not troubling to lower her voice. "That new girl can't get by on it. She looks like a total loss already."

Barbara stiffened. Miraculously, her knees stopped their queer knocking, and her head felt cooler.

She grasped her hat and coat and a wad of copy paper, such as she had seen other reporters carrying. Then she ran for the elevator. Just before the door of the lift closed on her, Jimmy made a rush for it and thrust something into her hand.

"Wells says, 'Take a taxi,'" he shouted as the door slammed to.

In the lobby downstairs, Barbara looked at the article that he had put in her hand. It was a taxi book. She picked up a cab at the door.

"The police station," she told the driver, "and hurry."

Ten minutes later she ran into the white marble hall of the police station, to find Bob Jeffries just starting for the door, watch in hand.

He grasped her arm without a word, and they ran out to the sidewalk, where the crazy racing car stood at the curb. In a moment they were flashing through the city streets, over a bridge and out into open country. It was not until they had settled down to a steady speed that Bob tried to talk.

"Listen, Miss Hawley," he said to Barbara. "Now's your chance. Can you stand blood and things?"

Barbara uncertainly nodded her head.

"Well, you'll have to, because this smash-up is one of the worst in years. I'll do all I can for you, but if we get separated, you'll have to go ahead, pick up all the names you can, and the stories of families separated, and so forth. Anything you see that has a human-interest punch in it, put it down. But get NAMES and INITIALS and keep as cool as you can. If you stay very busy you won't have time to faint, as the other girls did."

Barbara's eyes snapped. "Faint?" she teased back. "Of course I won't!"

Bar Junction was some 15 miles from town, and the racer pulled into sight of the wreck just 20 minutes after Bob and Barbara left the station.

The wrecked trains lay just over a hill, and the scene flashed across Bob and Barbara's vision, like a canvas suddenly dropped before them. Barbara had a confused idea about Armageddon, steel and fire, and sudden death. She did not stop to unravel it.

Before her eyes lay a mass of twisted machinery, with great jagged fingers of steel thrusting out, as though they pointed an accusation at the skies.

The mammoth engine of the limited lay on its side, in grips with the smaller engine of the freight train. They looked to Barbara like two bulls dead, with locked horns.

The cars of the two trains lay in long ribbons down the tracks on either side, some overturned, some still on the rails. The last two pullmans of the limited had overturned and silted down the banks of a creek, where they lay half submerged.

Barbara caught her breath.

She followed Jeffries over the rough ground in within 20 feet of the engines. A brakeman approached them.

"No sightseers allowed, sir," said the man. "We've got to get rid of the crowd." And then Barbara saw that people were coming up from all sides and numerous automobiles were parked roundabout.

"Bob Jeffries of the Appleton Telegraph," said Bob, "and this is Miss Hawley. What can you tell us about the wreck?"

The man's attitude changed in a twinkling. He began a detailed and rapid account. Bob took notes on his wad of paper, thanked the brakeman and turned to the girl.

"They think there are still living persons in some of these coaches," he said. "Some, perhaps, half-drowned in those two coaches in the creek. I'll have to leave you. You find the survivors in that improvised hospital over there and meet me here whenever you are ready. Don't make it later than ten-thirty, though."

He was gone. Barbara stared after him helplessly, then pulled herself up with a jerk.

She turned toward the tent-like hospital that had been rigged up a few feet away. She was still moving in a daze. The shouts and multitudinous sounds of the place blended in a confused murmur. She walked waveringly, constantly fearing what her eyes might light upon.

At last she saw it. They were lifting something out of a window in one of the overturned coaches, lifting it with infinite, needless care. Barbara came upon them without warning.

It was her first sight of death—and death without the palliating influence of roses and satin and hushed solemnity.

For a second she closed her eyes and stood still. Again the thought of Armageddon flashed into her mind. All earth and heaven this, she thought—each man's heaven and earth all in an instant.

She looked again. This time she did not close her eyes. She gulped a long draught of fresh air, gritted her teeth and went on. "Is there anybody alive in that coach?" she asked one of the workers.

The man did not raise his head. "Couldn't say, miss," he replied.

Barbara peered fearfully through the windows of the wrecked coaches. Nothing was to be seen save darkness within. She hurried toward the improvised hospital. A brawny nurse blocked her progress, but an explanation of Barbara's mission gained a reluctant permission to enter.

When she emerged, her face white and her hands gripping a sheaf of scribbled notes, it was 15 minutes after ten.

She hurried up the long line of coaches, turning her head away from the wreckage. Up the line, workmen were still chopping through debris and helpers were carrying stretchers away.

Barbara looked around for Bob. He was not in sight. At last she saw the brakeman whom they had talked to first. He could tell her nothing of Bob's whereabouts. The racer was not where they had left it.

She had heard Wells speak of an extra by eleven. There was no time to be lost in looking for Bob. She must find transportation into town, on her own initiative.

At her left, a seedy looking man was sitting in a striped Ford, lazily watching the workers. Barbara ran toward him. "Will you take me into town?" she called. The man looked at her insolently.

"Let's see your money," he said. Barbara opened her purse and stood transfixed. There was a lone

CITY HAS NEW MAPS PREPARED

Large Ones Now Completed Show New Schools, Parks and Street Names

New city maps in the largest wall size have been completed and are in possession of R. M. Connelly, city engineer. They are about five by six feet in size and are interlined in blue on a white background.

These give the city a map that is up-to-date in every respect. It shows location of the parks recently purchased and indicates where the new high schools are located. All streets are designated according to the new naming system adopted when the houses were renumbered.

The city now has maps of three sizes. One is a small hand map, the second is a medium-sized wall map and the third is the large one showing all the platting of the city in detail. The latter are to be sold for $5 if unmounted and for $8 if backed with cloth.

It is possible that the issuing of this map means also the christening of the new park on the south side. Mr. Connelly found that the park had not been named and in order to designate it some way inserted the title "South Park." It probably will be referred to hereafter thus unless the residents of that section decide to call it something else.

Forty minutes later, when she laid her last sheet of copy on the city desk, the city editor had a smile for her. The first with which he had as yet favored her. "Now go and get some coffee," he said.

An errand boy coming in a few moments afterwards, announced to the telephone operator, "There's a lady lying out in the corridor. Fainted, I guess. But she must be coming to, 'cause she's saying something about Armageddon—something and Bruce Reynolds."

DECEMBER WAS LEAN MONTH FOR BUILDING

December was a lean month so far as building was concerned and January shows little promise, judging from the monthly report of G. E. Peotter, city building inspector.

Total construction covered by December permits was estimated at $16,435. This represents five homes, six garages and three miscellaneous projects. These permits brought in a total of $14 in permit fees.

It is now nearly two weeks since anybody called at the city hall for a building permit. Mr. Peotter is using the idle time, however, to compile a report showing the amount of building done during the year 1925.

DECIDE TUESDAY ON UNION SCHOOL SYSTEM IN CITY

Special Election Is Scheduled On Abolishment of District Plan

Tuesday will be election day in Appleton. Few people realize it, perhaps, due to the lack of any kind of campaigning or even discussion.

However, the people are to vote at that time on whether the city is to adopt the union school system and do away with the divided control by districts. The polling places will be open from 6 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night, according to the usual arrangement.

There are to be two questions on the ballot. They are: "Shall the city school plan be adopted?" and "Shall the board of education be elective?"

A majority vote of the entire city is required to carry the election, not a majority in each ward as formerly. The proposal was defeated here previous to passage of a new law although all wards carried but one. A negative majority of nine votes nullified the object of the election.

If the second question on the ballot carries, the school board will be elected from the city at large as is generally done in cities having the union system. There has been quite a demand for a change to the city plan so as to make the management of the schools centralized and conduct all the business and the purchasing jointly so as to reduce educational costs.

The polling places will be: First ward—First precinct at school house; second precinct at the store building at 522 E. College-ave; Second ward—First precinct, Central Motor Car Co. 127 E. Washington-st; second precinct, basement of city hall; Third

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL TO HAVE MONTHLY PAPER

Students of the Roosevelt junior high school have started publication of a monthly newspaper called the Roosevelt News. The first issue was published just before school closed for the holidays. Publication of the Roosevelt News is under the supervision of Leonard Peterson, a member of the faculty. Alfred Scott is the editor in chief and Gordon Corey is business manager. Members of the editorial staff which is under the supervision of Josephine Broderick, faculty supervisor, are Ruth Cohen, associate editor; Fanny Simon, news editor; Chester Davis and Dorothy Brandt, sport editors; Marian Benyas, literary editor; Harold Ferron and Yvonne Catlin, humor editors. The makeup editor is Michael Gochbauer, and this department is supervised by Mr. Peterson.

FUNERAL IS HELD UP

London—Owing to the slippery condition of a road here recently a funeral procession was delayed for some time because the mourners were obliged to descend from the carriages while these were pushed up the hill by passersby. The coffin was then removed from the hearse and carried up the hill by the mourners.

JUMBO AND DICK FIRST TO BUY 1926 DOG TAGS

Jumbo and Dick, hounds owned by John H. Cockayne, 110 E. McKinley-st, were the first two dogs to be licensed this year, by F. E. Bachman, city treasurer. Their owner was the first to appear at the city hall when the taxpaying time opened.

Very few dogs can go about the street with new permit tags, however, as only 57 applications have come in to date out of a possible 700. All licenses are supposed to be paid by Feb. 15.

The Maytag washes heavy Blankets fluffily Clean

THE MAYTAG washes heavy blankets fluffily clean. Takes all dirt out thoroughly. Leaves them soft and downy—sleep-inviting—rest-assuring.

Washes all heavy, bulky pieces—even grease-encrusted, dirt-grimed overalls. Washes them cleaner—quicker—easier—better than they can be washed in any other way.

Washes all the light, fluffy, delicate things—the things you think must be hand-washed—even more gently than by hand.

Washes everything—without hand-rubbing—even collars, cuffs, wristbands, neckbands.

Turbulent water in every part of the tub—thoroughly soap-impregnated to the last drop—constantly forcing through the meshes of the clothes—is the MAYTAG's better—different method of washing—the Gyrafoam Principle—found only in the Maytag.

Prove all these things in your own home. Any MAYTAG dealer will bring the washer to you. No obligation—no expense. Do a week's washing—wash everything.

DESPPONDENT LABORER HANGS HIMSELF IN BARN

RIGID BODY IS CUT DOWN FROM RAFTER

Benjamin Pompa's Second Attempt to Commit Suicide Is Successful

Benjamin Pompa, 37, of 1720 S. Kernan-ave, hanged himself in his barn either on Wednesday or Thursday, it became known Thursday evening.

Dependancy resulting from family troubles and his wife's ill health is said to be the cause of the suicide according to the police.

Mrs. Pompa has been in ill health for three or four months and was to have been conveyed to a hospital this week, and it is believed that this fact may have had some influence upon the man.

The body of Pompa was found hanging in the barn by Orville Deshaney, 1830 S. Kernan-ave, a neighbor and friend of the Pompa couple, after the ill fated man had been missed from his home for more than a day.

WENT AFTER NIECE
Pompa left his home at about 5:10 Wednesday evening with the announcement that he was going into the country to bring his sick wife. He did not return that night. No inquiries were made at the police station as it was supposed that he stayed over night in the country. It is said that he had stayed away in this manner on previous occasions.

The theory is advanced that he never went to the country that evening and that the hanging occurred the same night. Discovery of the body was by accident. Deshaney went to the barn to get some hard coal for the Pompa home where his mother was caring for Mrs. Pompa. No trips were made to the barn since Wednesday, as the Pompa's were accustomed to burn coal only at night. The police were summoned, and Chief George T. Prim and Officer John Koubussen answered the call. They found that the body was already quite rigid and that death might have occurred at least 24 hours earlier. The man had used a buggy in the barn from which to leap into the rope trap.

Pompa was of German parentage. He was employed at a local paper mill and he owned the home he lived in. There are no children in the neighborhood that the hanging was Pompa's second attempt. About four months ago he is reported to have attempted suicide but was prevented by his wife who cut the rope.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Cloudy and somewhat unsettled tonight in west and north portions.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

High pressure over the Lake region and northeastern states this morning, but the low pressure area following it is moving slowly, and has not yet caused a shift of wind, which brings rising temperature to this section. Its continued advance is expected to bring a slow rise in temperature tonight and Saturday, however, with unsettled weather. Low pressure in the south has caused rains in that section. The pressure is high in the far west, with fair and generally moderate temperature.

Mrs. Strange settled for a fine of $1 and $3.20 in costs at the police station.

Kim Prunty returned to Campion college, Prairie du Chien after spending the holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Prunty.

ELECT HELBLE PRESIDENT OF VALLEY SCHOOLS

High School Athletic Managers Meet at Manitowoc to Draft Schedules

H. H. Helble, principal of Appleton high school, was elected president of the Fox River High School Athletic conference at the meeting of principals, faculty managers and coaches of eight school Thursday afternoon at Manitowoc. The meeting was the regular mid-winter session of the group. Mr. Helble, C. W. Cross, faculty athletic manager, and Coach John T. McAuliffe represented the local school.

Twenty-four men representing Marinette, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Appleton and East and West Green Bay attended the session which was held at the Manitowoc high school. It was preceded by a dinner at the school at 1 o'clock. Work on 1926 football schedules occupied most of the time, but because of two year contracts, Armistice day games, unwillingness to play on Thanksgiving day and the desire of some of the schools to send their teams to the Wisconsin-Minnesota game at Madison on one Saturday, practically none of the schools completed their cards as yet. Appleton's schedule probably will be completed next week, but it is expected to show only a few home games.

Two Farms Sold

A five acre truck farm in the town of Grand Chute, owned by Charles F. Falk of Appleton was purchased this week by William J. Schroeder of the town of Grand Chute. Another Outagamie-co farm changed hands recently when Acie Jones of the town of Dale purchased 60 acres in the town of Freedom from A. W. Laabs and R. F. Shepherd of Appleton. Both sales were made by Laabs and Shepherd, real estate dealers.

MOTOR COP ON JOB AS LONG AS DRIVERS SPEED

With an open winter, similar to that of last year, traffic violations continue to occur almost every day. In past years the motorcycle officers taken off traffic duty before Christmas, but Carl Radtke, the city "motorcop", is being kept on duty to discourage motorists who might otherwise take advantage of his removal from that sphere of work.

The latest arrests by Officer Radtke are those of Harvey Lillyroot, of Kimberly, on a charge of exceeding the speed limit, and Ed. Brinkman, Appleton, for violating the arterial highway ordinance. The Kimberly man was driving at a rate of 28 miles on E. North at the time of the arrest, and Brinkman "jumped" the arterial at Wisconsin-ave and Oneida-st. The former remitted $13.20 at the police station to cover the amount of the fine and costs, and the latter deposited $4.20 at the station.

Miss Inez Greenlaw and Edward Haverham of Oshkosh spent the New Years holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ziemer, 1002 N. Oneida-st.

BANK KEGGLERS COMEBACK TO BEAT INSURANCE TEAM

First National Bank ten pin artists staged a comeback in the fifth game of their series with the Aid Association for Lutheran kegglers Thursday evening on the Lutheran alleys, and rolled out a win by the narrow margin of 16 pins. The Lutheran maples busters won three consecutive games, and the bankers took first contest of the series so that the count now stands two games for the bankers, and three for the A. A. L. crew. The winner of the seven game series will be determined by the greatest number of pins rather than the number of games won. The A. A. L. team is leading the race by 53 pins, and two more games are to be bowled. The teams are as follows:

Aid Association for Lutherans—Louis Freude, Earl Kraemer, Walter Voelckes, Selma Gruett, and Martha Lueckel.

First National bank—Arnold Welch, John Wissman, Clyde Schwerbell, Helen Hawley, and Eleanor Patzer.

COUNTY USES SNOWPLOW FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

For the first time this season, a snow plow of the county highway department was put into action Thursday afternoon. Several bad snow drifts had accumulated in spots on roads north of Appleton, and A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner made use of the opportunity of trying out a new snow plow he had designed. A larger plow which he designed is attached to a tractor and is intended for heavy work. But whereas this a wedge shaped plow, the new one is of the one-way type and is to be attached to a motor truck.

SCHOOL SITE TO COST MORE THAN $50,000, GUESS

Neenah Folks Believe Survey Committee Underestimated Value of Property

Neenah—The site for a new senior high school as recommended in the report of state board of education committee following a recent survey of Neenah's school system, apparently meets with approval of majority of the people. The site located in Second ward is that block surrounded by Church, Caroline, Isabella and Washington streets, and is close to the present high school, Lincoln, Washington and McKinley schools. There is some doubt, however if this block can be purchased for $50,000 as estimated in the survey. Beside the Danish Lutheran church and parsonage, eight residences are located there.

The original plan was to erect a high school building to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. The survey report indicates that a new high school, McKinley school and a new shop can be built, the lot for the new high school purchased and repairs to the Washington school made for a total of $313,000.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha — The ladies of St. John church gave their weekly card party at St. John school hall Thursday evening. Schafkopf, whist and rummy were played and the prize winners were: Schafkopf—Mrs. W. P. The Winodausis club held a card party Thursday afternoon. Bridge was played and the honors were won by Mrs. Charles Egan, and Mrs. Louise Parks. The hostesses were Mrs. George Sutton, Mrs. O. S. Swenson, Mrs. O. H. Plenzke and Mrs. Emma Thines.

The Economics club held a meeting Friday afternoon at the public library. The program included a paper on the history of Menasha and Neenah; Mrs. E. E. Sensenbrenner discussed city planning with reference to parks and architecture; Mrs. L. L. Whitmore called attention to what other cities are doing in the way of making themselves beautiful; Miss Sally Pleasant discussed labor laws affecting the Twin Cities; and R. C. Miller, recreational director, gave a talk on playground work in Menasha. The hostesses were Mrs. E. H. Schultz and Mrs. Frank Pankratz.

Blue Mound, Lefferts of Wauwatosa was one of the heaviest outside winners. It made a clean sweep with all its young Homers, Blondinettes, Buff Tumblers, Priests and Red Helms and its other exhibits won many of the first and second prizes. Pigeons from several different states were on exhibition.

SCHOOL SITE TO COST MORE THAN $50,000, GUESS

Neenah Folks Believe Survey Committee Underestimated Value of Property

Neenah—The site for a new senior high school as recommended in the report of state board of education committee following a recent survey of Neenah's school system, apparently meets with approval of majority of the people. The site located in Second ward is that block surrounded by Church, Caroline, Isabella and Washington streets, and is close to the present high school, Lincoln, Washington and McKinley schools. There is some doubt, however if this block can be purchased for $50,000 as estimated in the survey. Beside the Danish Lutheran church and parsonage, eight residences are located there.

The original plan was to erect a high school building to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. The survey report indicates that a new high school, McKinley school and a new shop can be built, the lot for the new high school purchased and repairs to the Washington school made for a total of $313,000.

ARREST EMPLOYEE FOR BURGLARY

Electrician Employed by Valley Construction Co. Held for Robbing Office

Neenah—William Shores, electrician at Valley Construction Co. plant, arrested Thursday noon on a charge of burglary, appeared before Justice O. B. Baldwin in the afternoon and pleaded not guilty. He was bound over to appear in Municipal court at 10 o'clock on the morning of Jan. 21. Not being able to furnish the $500 bail, he was ordered to the Winnebago-co jail to await hearing.

Shores was arrested for stealing of $100 in currency and checks Wednesday night at the Valley Construction Co. office. Some of the stolen checks were found in his clothing at the time of arrest.

WANT NEW DANCING PAVILLION IN PARK

Neenah—A new dance pavilion may be erected in Riverside park to take place of the present one which was erected 30 years ago, according to reports Thursday. Complaints have been made against the present site by property owners on north end of the park.

It is stated that one property owner in that vicinity has offered to pay for moving the building but it is

THRIFT AND MEAT ECONOMY

"Thrifty" is an excellent and profitable habit. In our fifteen years of experience as "Butchers to the Public," we have found real "Thrifty" and a wonderful quality. "Thrifty" is always practical — it knows where to buy merchandise at the right price and is unwilling to pay a "hold-up" profit. We offer substantial daily meat economies to the thrifty meat shopper. "Thrifty Meat Economy" is not satisfied with an occasional bargain, but demands full value constantly. The Hopfensperger Bros., Inc. Markets give you full value every day. They offer you quality, price, service and substantial guarantees.

From A Pound of Sausage To An Automobile

"YOU GET JUST WHAT YOU PAY FOR"

You can buy an automobile for a few hundred dollars, and you can buy one for several thousand dollars, but no matter how much or how little you pay you get only value received.

The same with a pound of sausage or any other meat, you can buy poor cuts, and naturally they cost less, and you can buy good cuts at a few cents more.

Isn't it economy to buy the better cuts?

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO RUTH BURKE—CONTINUED

Slowly we glided out on the deck. I felt Syd's arm tighten almost imperceptibly.

"Are you happy, Leslie?" he asked.

"Very. I never participated in such a gorgeous party before. It doesn't seem to be of earth, earthy. Mr. Sartoris was just talking to me of that fairy land he calls his mind, and it seems as though he were able to make a fairy land on board his ship."

"Perhaps I'm very wicked, Syd, to enjoy it so much, when there are so many people who would almost give their immortal souls to have the money that just these white flowers have cost. But I can't help but enjoy it. This is my night of joy, and I am very happy."

"You certainly ought to take great pleasure in it, for in all my life, Leslie, I have never known a woman who has been so wonderfully flattered before. No wonder Melville Sartoris is irresistible. If he pays his devils to each woman who strikes his fancy as he has done to you."

"What do you mean, Syd? I have never heard you speak so caustically."

"I guess I'm jealous, that's all. Melville has done this thing so beautifully, he has done something that, however much I should ever care for a woman, I should never be able to do. I would not know how. And you can say what you please, a woman likes to have money spent upon her if it is done with good taste and imagination."

"It is a good thing, my dear Leslie, for Jack's peace of mind, that Sartoris sails tomorrow morning for the Orient for an indefinite stay."

"Now, Syd, you're joking. You know Jack's peace of mind would never be shattered by me. Why do you make me feel as though I should be unhappy on this, my perfect night? Besides, I thought that Mr. Sartoris was coming directly back, after he gets the little jade man."

"Perhaps he will, Leslie. Perhaps he will. But don't you think, my dear, that he will ever give to you the little coral man if he should get it."

"Are you speaking for yourself, Syd?" I asked suddenly. "Would you keep the little coral man that is the complement to the one you gave me, if you could find it?"

Syd turned a grayish white. "I thought you had forgotten the one I gave you, Leslie. I recognized the jade one as a counterpart of the coral one I gave you when you opened the package last night at the Travelers' Club."

"So did I, Syd, but I thought it better not to mention it. You did not seem to be aware that it was like the little coral bibelot you gave to me."

"Strange, isn't it, that you two men should have each found one-half of a pair of those rare statuettes?"

"Not so strange, my dear. One always finds if one seeks earnestly."

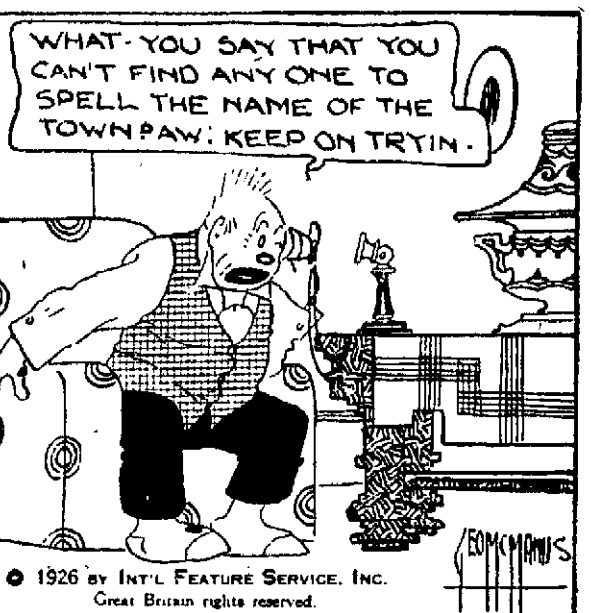

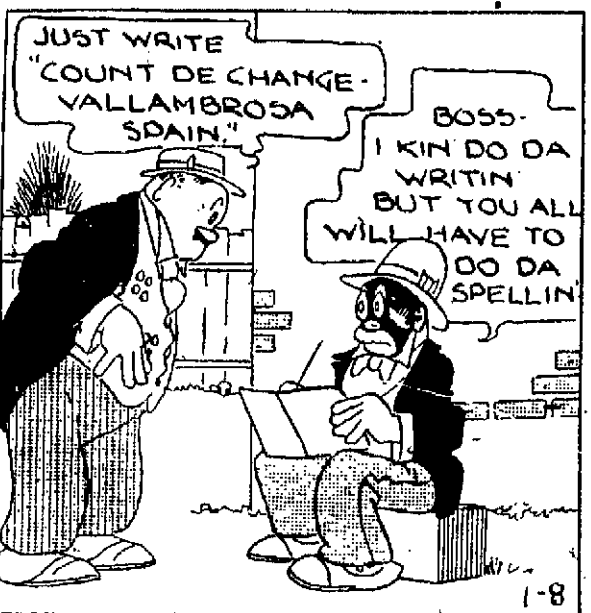

"And what are you seeking so earnestly, Syd?" (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

Ticketed!

You can't lose any time hunting through the A-B-C Classified Columns for the ads that interest you—because they're "ticketed" and arranged in perfect order.

You can't miss the proposition that will save you the most money in getting what you want—because it will be correctly indexed under the heading to which you'll turn first.

The A-B-C system of arranging the ads saves you time and trouble when you consult its classified columns. In every case the indexing tells you what you first want to know about each proposition in any of the classifications.

If it's a position, the indexing word tells you what kind of work is to be done; if it's an automobile, the make is told; if it's a room or a house, the location is given.

Here's service for you—use it every day!

Matched-Unit Radio

Stewart-Warner is the gold standard of radio values. Better performance—because of the matched-unit idea.

Stewart-Warner engineers were not content with simply designing and perfecting each unit, the instrument, the tube, the reproducer, the accessories. They took a forward step, and made a real contribution to radio progress by matching these units together for perfect functioning with each other.

Every model uses the standard navy five-tube circuit, which is well known for its dependability.

The Stewart-Warner nameplate is your guarantee, backed by an institution known the world over.

Increase in New York Federal Reserve Bank Rediscount Rate Affects Market

New York—(AP)—Stock prices reacted sharply at the opening of Friday's market in reflection of the unexpected increase in the New York Federal reserve bank rediscount rate after the close of the market Thursday. General Motors broke 3 points on the first sale and initial losses of one to nearly two points were recorded by United States Steel common, Bethlehem Steel, Willys Overland, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Studebaker, Cero Despasco, American Car and Foundry and Baltimore and Ohio.

Prices were carried down one to four points in the first wave of selling, but strong buying support soon appeared and a moderate rally from the low levels was under way before the end of the first half hour. Hudson opened 4½ points lower at 118, but soon climbed back to 121½. Early losses of two or more points also were recorded by Remington Typewriter, American Smelting, United Cigar Stores, Sears Roebuck, Chesapeake and Ohio and Allied Chemical.

Norfolk and western opened a point lower and then bounced upward to a new record high at 1.54½. Peoria and Eastern touched 22, the highest quotation in over a year, and Pacific Oil rose 1½ points to within a fraction of its high record on the announcement of a distribution of 3½ cents above yesterday's closing.

Speculative interest in the foreign exchanges was divided between a drop of nearly 5 points to 34½ cents in French francs, and a ten point rally in Danish Krone to 24.88 cents on the establishment of a new $40,000,000 Danish credit. Demand sterling held firm at 4.84½.

The vigorous rally which reduced early losses in many instances to fractions and carried Delaware and Lackawanna American Brake Shoe, United Fruit and the American Agricultural Chemical issues 2½ to 4 points above yesterday's closing was stopped by a renewal avalanche of selling orders. A number of shares dropped below their low figures at the outset, United States Steel going down to 135½ and American Can to 290 Woolworth 15½. Call loans renewed at the unchanged rate of four per cent.

The closing was heavy. Total sales approximate 2,200,000 shares.

WANTS TO BRING U. W. CLOSER TO STATE EMPLOYERS

Meeting of Foundry Owners and University Representative Is to Be Held Here

To discuss how the grey iron foundries and the University of Wisconsin can work together for the benefit of both is the purpose of a meeting to be held within the next two weeks of representatives of the foundries and R. S. McArthur, professor of metalurgy. Ben G. Elliott, professor of mechanical engineering, is in Appleton and other cities in the Fox river valley this week making arrangements for this meeting.

Mr. Elliott is traveling through the state with the aim of establishing and maintaining a friendly and cooperative contact between the college of engineering and its resources, and the industries of the state. Special ends of the work are to bring to the attention of the industries research activities under way at the college of engineering which may be of value to them and to learn about research work contemplated by or needed by industries so that it may be brought to the attention of the faculty for action. It is the hope of Mr. Elliott and those working with him, to obtain employer's opinions regarding the technical preparation of graduates of the college of engineering and to get suggestions regarding better preparation. Through this endeavor it will be possible to discover and develop opportunities for future employment of graduates.

Deny Indians Gained Point In Court Suit

Denial is made by Albert Ottinger, attorney general of the state of New York, of statements made recently by O. J. Kellogg of Seymour, concerning a court victory in Washington in the land recovery suit brought by the six Nations Indians at the Oneida reservation. He received a letter from Mr. Ottinger explaining the status of the case.

It was said by Mr. Kellogg that the court in Washington had ruled that the Six Nations case should remain in the federal court. A motion was reported to have been argued by Charles Evans Hughes asking that the case be thrown back to the state court of New York because the federal court had no jurisdiction. The defendants in this instance were supposed to have been the state of New York and the Aluminum Company of America.

Mr. Ottinger's letter acknowledges receipt of the clippings and then goes on to state: "The statements in the clippings are false. The basis of fact is a suit by James Deere, on behalf of himself and of all other members of the St. Regis tribe of Indians, against the St. Lawrence River Power company and others to recover part of a square mile of land in the town of Massena, St. Lawrence co., this state.

"The Oneida Indians and the St. Regis are not parties to this suit and could not hope to share in a recovery even if the suit were decided in favor of the Indian title. The ones that would share in such an event would be the members of the St. Regis tribe according to the government rolls, and quite irrespective of whether they had contributed to the expenses of the litigation, and paid their so-called dues and taxes in the organization known as the confederacy. Moreover the motion to dismiss the complaint has not been decided, in favor of the Indians or otherwise; in fact it has not been fully argued and will not be until Jan. 2, 1926. It probably will be some time after that before the motion will be decided."

RURAL SCHOOL MAY GET SECOND TEACHER

So large is the enrollment of Silver Summit school in the town of Oneida, that the district, No. 4, is considering employing a second teacher. There are 65 children attending the school and the task of educating so many has become quite a task to Miss Hazel Bohlman, the only teacher. The building is now partly equipped for two rooms. One of them can be used for assembly room and the other for recitation purposes.

300 WILL ATTEND DINNERS WHERE MALLOCH SPEAKS

Reservations Are Mounting from Stores and Industries

More than 300 reservations have been received to date by the chamber of commerce for the two dinners next Tuesday at the new First Methodist church at which Douglas Malloch, poet and humorist, will give one of his noted inspiration talks on "The Average Man."

Merchants have subscribed for more than 200 dinner tickets to date for their salespersons and other employees, who are to be their guests. The remainder of the reservations have been made by industries which are entertaining as guests the persons who have served them continuously for 25 years or longer.

Community singing and other entertainment features are to be included in the banquet programs. The two audiences will join afterward to hear Mr. Malloch speak.

Both meetings are unique in the history of Appleton and inquiries are reaching the chamber of commerce concerning these get-together plans and the means of cementing closer relations between employees and employers. Wisconsin Manufacturers association is interesting itself in the dinner for the veteran employees with the intention of encouraging the idea elsewhere.

Some form of recognition will be given the three oldest employees at the dinner, that is, those who have served their concerns the longest.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS "BREAK INTO" MAGAZINE

Two students of Appleton high school, members of the staff of the Tallman, weekly publication of the school, were honored during the Christmas holidays when stories written by them appeared in the Scholastic Editor, the official publication of the Central Interscholastic Press association. The students are Janet Carncross, managing editor of the local weekly, and Janemay Barrett, a reporter. At the C. I. P. A. convention at Madison on Nov. 23 and 24, at which Appleton had a large delegation, it was decided that students attending the gathering be given an opportunity to help put out the December issue of the magazine.

Six Appleton students submitted articles but only the two appeared in the issue when it came out. A prize will be awarded to the writer of what is considered the best story. Miss Barrett's story is a report on high school publications and fills two columns in the magazine. Miss Evelyn Broderick, faculty sponsor

LAWRENCE MAN TALKS AT AD CLUB MEETING

Prof. W. F. Mitchell of the commerce department of Lawrence college discussed the Human Field in advertising at a luncheon of the Advertising club at 12 15 Thursday at the Hotel Northern. He spoke especially of the use of color in advertising, of the disadvantages in crowding, and of the appeal to the eye of a balanced advertisement.

A survey of the markets where the merchandise will be sold was advised by Mr. Mitchell, thus determining the appeal best adapted and eliminating waste, advertising and waste circulation. Guests at the meeting included Max W. Schalk and E. E. Jandrey, Neenah; H. A. Gloudermans and Earl Roland, Appleton. About twenty five members of the club were at the meeting.
